—We have received Boyle & Chap-man's Cety Directory, for 1874, and find it to be a great improvement upon the previous edition, far superior in every respect to any other ever issued. It emraces a general directory of the city, a lassified business directory, besides a ity and county record. The preface to his directory, entitled the "Fortunes of Memphis," deserves the careful perusal and serious consideration of every-one interested in the prosperity and future advancement of our city. By a careful investigation it is ascertained that nearly two thousand more names are recorded in the present directory than appeared in that in 1873. This is highly encouraging, and the increase in population is well sustained when it is seen that there has been an increase of twenty per cent. in the number of boardinghouses and of ten per cent. in mechanical interests, within the last twelve months. Despite the several calamities which befell Memphis, the city has increased in business, wealth and population, having now at least sixty-five thousand inhabitants. We commend Boyle & Chap-man's Directory to the public as a reliable, interesting and indispensable volume, to which too much importance cannot be attached. In fact, ousiness and professional men cannot do well without this directory, the character and

The late attempt to rob the express office at Hickman, Kentucky—a full account of which we gave a few days ago following so quickly upon the train-observ on the Iron Mountain road at Gadshill, Missouri, has aroused and alarmed the express officials, and them the advisabilof adopting such measares as the lawless and perilous state of the times would seem to de-mand. In a conversation, yesterday, with Mr. J. O'Brien, general superin-tendent of the southern express company, who is at present in the city, one of our reporters fearned that, since the occurrence of the Hickman robbery, special instructions had been issued to all agents and employes of the com-pany, calling upon them for increased guard now accompanies each messenger, both of whom are armed emphatic instructions are to shoot any stranger or suspicious looking person who attempts to enter their car. Every express agent along the different ines of railroad has also been provided with arms and strictly enjoined to keep the same in readiness for immediate use, in case they are called upon to pro-tect themselves or the property in their charge; and as an inducement to the | Colonel Faulkner. employes the company has not only promised to surround them with every legal protection, but also to pecuniarily reward those who successfully protect its property. In fact the express company has determined to make it hot' for these audacious rascals, should they ever dare to make another attempt to rob an express messenger or an express office, and the company will certainly have the good wishes of the community in its praiseworthy and plucky determination. It has been the undeviating policy of the Southern express company, from its inception to the present, to spare neither effort nor expense in capturing and bringing to justice all desperadoes who have robbed them or attempted to do so, and in nearly every instance the company has met with success, though not a few of the robbers have managed to elude the company's detectives for two and three years before being caught, thus entailing thousands of dollars expense on the express company; in fact, in many cases the expense attending the capture of the thieves has far exceeded the amount originally stolen. In accordance with this commendable spirit of pursuing the gullty till their and ere long we would be able to chronicle the safe capture of these daring capture is effected, the company has taken steps looking to the speedy capture of the Gadshill and Hickman robbers. In reply to our question, Mr. O'Brien said it would be injudicious to make known the measures which the company had adopted with that view, but the public might feel assured that the matter was in trustworthy hands, highwaymen. In dealing with this class of thieves, he said the motto of the express company was, "Salus pupuli suprema lex;" while it respected the law of the land, yet he believed the pub-lic would readily indorse the extreme the fair-grounds yesterday. SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT. The report of W. W. Forrest, superintendent, shows the earnings of the eastern division for the past year to be $61,-745 07, while the expenses amounted to $51,605 06, leaving the net earnings at $10,140 01, to which is added $3096, the price paid for a baggage-car, making the earnings $13,236 01. The amount of cotton transported in 1872 was 10,762 bales; in 1873 it was 7711 bales. This difference of 3081 bales which is accounted for by the general prostration of business and a most extraordinary short crop. Owing to the necessity of extensive repairs the expenses have increased. The road has received from 500 to 1000 new ties during the year, bridges were repaired, etc., and the road was run almost entirely free of accident. The rolling-stock, road-bed, etc., are in good order. The lowest possible reduction of wages and expenses has been made, and the employes submitted cheerfully to the same, and continue to perform their duties. In September last, a lease was effected with the Alabama CHURCH SOCIABLE at Central Metho- | Central railroad, to run trains over it from Marion Junction to Selms, a distance of fourteen miles. This arrangement is proving advantageous to the Selma road, the receipts of which have greatly increased. The superintendent recommends that a certain amount, say

$1000 per month for the next six months (March to September), be appropriated for the continuance of improvements on the road-bed and rolling-stock. The report was received and adopted. ENGINEER'S REPORT. J. P. Fresenius, chief engineer, presented a lengthy and elaborate report, setting forth the amount expended, and what will be necessary to complete the road from Memphis to Selma, 280 miles distant. The report was received and adopted, and the meeting adjourned to meet at feur o'clock.

AFTERNOON SESSION. The meeting was called to order at the appointed hour, and Mr. R. A. Murdock, of Mississippi, asked to reconsider the motion to table Mr. Thompson's

Colonel Meek thought it was out of order to reconsider the question.

General Forrest opposed the reconsideration of the question; he didn't cars whether the county of Shelby gave the company money or not. The court never intended to give the money; a majority of the court were men prejudiced against the road and all other enterprises of a public nature. They were men full of animosides and prejudices.

A PROTEST. A PROTEST.

The motion to reconsider was withdrawn, wherenpon Mr. Thomas Hol-man, chairman of the county court, as financial agent, presented the following

Seinia, Marion and Memphis Railroad Com-pary, now in annual convention assem-bled, Memphis, Tennessee: GENTLEMEN—I, as chairman of the county court and financial agent of Shelby county, beg leave most respectfully to enter upon the minutes of said company this my earnest protest against the action of this convention, in denying to Shelby county the stable. ing to Shelby county the right or privi-lege of voting the whole amount of its subscription of five hundred thousand iollars to said company in the election of nine directors of said company for the next year. Colonel Meek insisted that the word legal" be added to the word "right" in

Thereupon the question of Shelly county voting $500,000 stock was agitated by Mr. W. R. Cooper, who regretted that Mr. Murdock withdrew his motion to reconsider, as it prevented any further action on a subject of great impor-tance to the road. He said that no per-sonal or clique interests should deter him from giving to Shelby county the right to vote her entire stock. That the interests of Shelby and Lowndes counties were one and the same in this respect, and her moral and financial support of more value than that of any other section. Mr. Cooper then moved, as the least that could be done, that Mr. Holeman be permitted to spread his protest upon the minutes

Mr. Holeman said he had no objection to the word "legal" being inserted in connection with the word "right."

thereupon, a motion being made to this effect, elicited some discussion. Colonel Meek said he had just been informed that Mr. Neeley could not serve, as it was impossible for him to do so, not that he was an enemy to the road. He knew Mr. Neeley to be a friend of the road. He favored an election of a gentleman to be selected by the Memphis directors. A RESOLUTION OF INQUIRY. Mr. Phelan offered a resolution that a committee of five stockholders, not members of the last or present directory, be appointed by the chair to examine into the condition of the company's affairs and report as early as practicable to

The resolution was adopted, and the following committee was appointed: R. Phelan, chairman; Judge George Thomas Holeman, Michael Magevney, sr., J. C. Neeley, and J. M. Pettigrew. Judge Holeman moved to hold the next annual meeting of the stockhold-ers and directors at Memphis. Colonel Meek moved to amend by se lecting Columbus, Mississippi, as the next place of meeting. Colonel Speed offered an amendment to the amendment, to meet at Marion. General Forrest urged objections, and preferred Memphis because the books were all kept here.

Colonel Speed and Colonel Meek withdrew their motions, and thereupon the motion of Judge Holeman was adopted, by which Memphis will be the The meeting then adjourned sine die.

the profession of the apothecary are nearly as ancient as the art of pharmacy itself. In the old-time methods of preparing medicines it was deemed amply sufficient to pound the it gredients into a cease powder, and finish the preparation by boiling with water. Modern science has greatly added to the efficacy of the crude material by more efficient methods of compounding, and now steam apparatus for grinding secures uniformity in the size of ingredients, which helps the approved method of disc which helps the approved method of displacement by percolation, and the man-ufacture of fluid extracts by evaporation in vacus. It is to the careful preparation of Mansfield's Hungarian Balsan of Life by means of apparatus which combine in purity, and secure perfect concentration of strength, that much of the success which has attended this great expec orant is due. Its pop. ularity as a curative of coughs, cold and lung diseases, has given it vast sale, and the methods of its manufacture could not be made available at the pre-scription case. It is the determination of the proprietor that Mausfield's Hun-garian Balsam of Life shall never deteriorate in quality, and never fall be-low its present high standard of excel-ience, and those who suffer from dis-eases of throat or lungs, from estarrh to consumption, can always be certain of obtaining relief from this wonderful vegetable preparation. I. B. KIRTLAND has removed to Car PERSONAL.

CAPTAIN JOHN S. DORMER, formerly of the APPEAL, but more recently of the Little Rock Republican, has accepted the position of telegraphic editor on the St. Louis Republican. WE regret to hear of the death of Mr. R. C. Hight, for years one of the most faithful and energetic attaches of the APPEAL. Mr. Hight has been in rapid decline for the past twelve months from an attack of consumption, but stood faithfully at his post until all hope of recovery was abandoned, when he went to Saltillo, Mississippi, his former home, where he died on the fourth instant. Heleaves a wife and two children besides numerous friends, in this cit to lament the loss of a kind and father and devoted friend.
